Dear Rizky Yudaruddin,

The plagiarism report file is attached. Please remove all ABC and plagiarism.

Our journal strictly observes the principles of publication ethics, including when talking about citing the works of other scientists and the works they published earlier. Any loanwords, including text loans (even insignificant), are unacceptable without mentioning their author.

We kindly ask you to pay attention to the widespread problem of wrong citation when Author A somehow gives (mentions, retells) the text fragment from the work (published by Author B), which contains the reference to other work (published by Author C).

In this case there are two options of correct citation:

- 1 – cite the work of Author B and note that he/she, in turn, cited the work of Author C;
- 2 – directly mention the work of Author C as well and cite it.

Do not forget that you can also use direct citations, that is why please use the quotation marks and when citing the source please note the page from which this quotation was taken.

You should be absolutely sure that you did not violate the principles of publication ethics. If there are at least small doubts that there can be loanwords in your text, we kindly ask you to check the manuscript for plagiarism by yourself using the special instruments (plagiarism detection software).

The situation that prevailed from the results of checking your manuscript for plagiarism may indicate (we just can assume) that some of the sources referenced in your article were not studied and considered by you. These sources were mentioned in other works from which you borrowed and used a small fragment of the text, probably with the aim of increasing the list of sources. If this is not so, please ignore this remark.
