Dear Diana Lestari,

the manuscript THE IMPACT OF FINANCIAL DEVELOPMENT AND CORRUPTION ON FOREIGN DIRECT INVESTMENT IN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES, submitted to Public and Municipal Finance Journal, needs to be revised.

Comments:

Please, keep in mind that research paper, which is a final report on the finished original experimental study (the structure is Abstract, Introduction, Literature review, Method, Results, Discussion, Conclusion)

<https://www.businessperspectives.org/index.php/journals/investment-management-and-financial-innovations#submission-guidelines-for-authors>

Check out what should be in this or that section and correctly distribute the material into sections. Do not introduce new sections. Do not divide sections into small subdivisions, including by introducing subheadings. State the purpose of the research clearly.

The number of words in the paper may vary from 4000 to 6000. Considering the issue concerning the calculation of the number of words in the paper, the information about the authors, title, abstract and keywords, list of references and appendices should not be included. The number of sources, in the list of references, should be determined by an author directly but be on average within 30-50. In the review articles, this number can be significantly higher. Supplementary materials should not exceed 5 pages.

The Abstract (its volume is 150-250 words) should contain the following sequence of presentation of the material - relevance, purpose, result, conclusion. The result should be devoted to most of the Abstract volume. You should provide quantitative indicators of the demonstration of the research result.

The purpose of keywords is to provide the insight to the reader into the contents of the paper. They should reflect the area of the research. The number of keywords should be 5-10 in average. There should not be the sentences, but the words or word groups. If the object of the study is not mentioned in the title of the paper (including the country, the region), it should be added to the list of keywords. There is no need to replicate words from the title of the manuscript.

You need to clarify JEL codes. If earlier the author was not aware of this classification system, he/she should attentively look through it in order to have a common understanding of all the areas defined in it http://www.aeaweb.org/jel/jel_class_system.php. The codes, indicated by the author should clearly reflect the research area. The author is welcome to use the codes from two or three areas, if they are covered in the research.

The Introduction (this is half a page-page of text) should be devoted to the relevance of the research topic and the formulation of the problem in general. Do not include tables and figures here. Do not turn the Introduction into a literature review.

The Literature review also requires revision and consistency of the presentation of the material. It should be subordinated to the purpose of the study and should be completed with a statement of goal. The Literature review of the analyzed sources should be 40-50. If you assume hypotheses, then after that, give the hypotheses (all together and do not insert text between them). Then the Methods should be presented.

The Result section is the main section of the article.

Then there should be a Discussion section. There should be a discussion of the study results, comparison with previous ones, a discussion of why the authors have exactly such results, determination of further prospects.

The Conclusion section is built incorrectly. There should be such logic - point out the purpose of the study, briefly demonstrate the result obtained, point out what conclusions should be drawn from it.

The Abstract should not repeat the sentences from the Conclusion.

Comments:

Please increase the Abstract by 2-3 sentences. There should be such a sequence of presentation of the material - relevance, purpose, method, result, and conclusion. This is the sequence that should be.

In the Introduction, the text should be deleted starting with the sentence: "This study aims to assess the effect of financial development and corruption on foreign direct investment in developing countries...".

In the Literature review of the analyzed sources should be 40-50. It should start with a few introductory sentences. The inspection should also be completed with 2-3 generalizing sentences. Then the purpose of the study should be formulated. State the goal more specifically and in one sentence.

Do not use in the formulation of the goal, in the Introduction and in the Conclusion, the abbreviations (abbreviations) you have introduced.
