Call for Paper

Journal of Business, Economics and Environmental Studies (JBEEES) is an open access journal that publishes original research analysis and inquiry into contemporary issues of business, economics, and environmental studies throughout the world. The journal publishes four issues per year quarterly in English via both in print and online with DOI. JBEEES is one of the journals published by Korea Distribution Science Association (KODISA), and the quality publication system of KODISA journals meets the international standard of journal publications.

Fees and Charges of Publication of an article: "FREE".(단, 한국소재투고자는 유료)

Types of Paper Submissions Journal Article: The research article should describe new and/or carefully investigated findings, and research methods should be provided in sufficient detail for others to verify the work. All regular research articles are peer-reviewed by a minimum of three referees. Short Communication: This short communication is suitable for reporting the results of small investigations or giving details of new models, innovative methods, or techniques. The style of the main sections does not need to conform to those of full-length papers.
