Abstract

The cause of market failure is the lack of synchronization between supply and demand, or vice versa. Initially, corn was considered as a substitute and a complementary commodity for food, but now it has turned into a basic need for people in Indonesia, especially when they celebrate the new year. The main aim of this study is to examine the interaction between the demand side and the supply side. The study was carried out by inviting 9,850 respondents in Samarinda City to be surveyed regarding interest,

Dear Surya Darma

Congratulations!

We are happy to let you know that your article "Understanding Market Behavior on Corn Commodity: Phenomenon in the Year End" has been selected for publication with major changes in Asian Journal of Agriculture and Rural Development. Your article was evaluated in a blind review process by two referees in addition to the input from the editor.

There are required major changes before publication:

Please submit revised file by incorporating following comments

1. The theoretical justification for the study is relatively weak.

2. Conclusion section is underdeveloped.

3. The implications for academics and industry practitioners are missing and should be developed as a separate section.

4. The limitation and future study should be presented in a separate section.

After these changes the paper is suggested for the publication.

Please remember to quote the manuscript number, AJARD/435/22. You will need to send us revised file by answering the reviewers' comments within coming 15 days.

With best regards,

Robert Allen
